Dear Parents and Carers

At St Bartholomew's, we pride ourselves on the children's sense of community spirit. They are always keen to support different charities through the year and a lot of national charity days fall during the autumn term. Rather than springing these on you, I thought that I would let you know when we will be raising awareness and possibly asking for a voluntary contribution in the coming weeks. There will be more detailed letters nearer the time.

23rd September: Jeans4Genes day. Wear jeans with your school uniform. Voluntary contribution of £1 per family, paid via Parent pay.

10th October: #HelloYellow Raising awareness of mental health through Mindfulness activities at school and at home. No contribution needed.

14th November: Diabetes awareness day. Paint your nails blue. No contribution needed.

18th November: Children in Need. Non uniform day. This year children can wear spots instead of uniform. Voluntary contribution of £1 per family, paid via Parent pay.

8th December: Save the Children Christmas Jumper Day. Wear a Christmas jumper with your school uniform. Voluntary contribution of £1 per family, paid via Parent pay.

In addition to the national charity days, our School Council will be choosing a charity to support for this academic year. Funding raising may include termly cake stalls or other activities. More details on these will follow.

Yours sincerely

Mrs Harvey
